Sustainability Luncheon

Transforming Attitudes, Values and Beliefs Into Actions

As climate change advocates, we know how important it is to connect to our audience through effective messaging. So, what are the best approaches for constructive, persuasive messages?

Ben McCall, Hanley Sustainability Institute's first Executive Director, helped the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign become one of the most sustainable campuses in the nation. Now at the University of Dayton, he aims to foster strong and interlinked efforts in sustainability education, research, campus operations, and community engagement.

Richard Kaiser, founder of Wilderness Agency (on the short list of Dayton's coolest places to work in Dayton), has dedicated his professional career to producing good work that affects positive change in the community. His company helped organizations streamline their messaging, enhance their experiences and implement marketing initiatives that get results.

Join us on November 7th as our two speakers share how their beliefs and attitudes shaped their success and enabled them to deliver their message .
