- Acquiring new businesses or expanding existing businesses;
- Purchasing and improving real estate;
- Purchasing machinery & equipment;
- refinancing outstanding debt; and
- providing term working capital.

Projects prioritized by headquarters are those projects intended to further enhance the rural economies by providing well-paying employment, essential community services and long term investments. These priority projects include:

- Broadband; high-speed internet connectivity.
- Commercially available unmanned technologies.
- Food distribution such as grocery stores and food manufacturing along with agritourism and biotechnology.
- Advancement of energy security by boosting production of energy from natural gas, oil, coal and renewables.
- A focus on "made in America" including projects for infrastructure, distribution, and value-chain participants.
- Projects that advance the quality of life. For example modern utilities, medical services, and for the treatment and recovery of opioid addiction.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
FISHER COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Fisher College of Business is proud to host the U.S. Small Business Administration Office of Advocacy for a

Small Business Outreach Meeting on Trade Agreements with Japan, European Union, and United Kingdom

The U.S. Small Business Administration's Office of Advocacy is interested in receiving feedback from small businesses and their representatives regarding their views on trade agreements being negotiated with Japan, the European Union, and the United Kingdom, and their experience doing business in these markets.

The Office of Advocacy is tasked with producing a report to Congress evaluating the economic impacts of these trade agreements in negotiations regarding small businesses, particularly in the services, manufacturing, and agriculture sectors, as well as highlighting small business priorities, opportunities, and challenges.

Advocacy is conducting outreach to small businesses across the U.S. to better understand important small business concerns regarding trade with these markets and how trade agreements would benefit small businesses.

How can you help shape trade policy?

Your participation will greatly assist the Office of Advocacy in communicating to Congress how the trade agreements being negotiated will affect your business. Small businesses do not need experience in all three markets to participate, and can provide feedback on a particular market.

Please join us for this event and let your voice be heard.

This is your chance to discuss the pros and cons of trade agreements, specifically with Japan, European Union and the UK with the SBA's Office of Advocacy.

No cost to attend, but registration is required.
